Hundreds of [illegible] Have Disappeared

It is Feared [illegible] Blood on Miles' Hands

[illegible]

CODY, Neb., November 20.—Certainly Indians from the reservation have left and may have right there to return by reporting that from appearances of the younger Indians are certainly not dissatisfied on their own account whether a general uprising occurs or not. They unanimously say they express a contempt for the soldiers. The Sioux they feel are have never been whipped and they are entirely willing to take their hand in a fight. Business is only as practically suspended.

VALENTINE, Neb., November 20.—Settlers from the west are coming into town for safety. There are fifty families who left their homes between Valentine and Cody to come to Valentine Wednesday night.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., November 20.—Word has been received here that Frank Guard, the government Indian scout, has reached Buffalo with information that parties of Sioux Indians are travelling up the Powder river valley toward the Big Horn region. The people at Buffalo are excited over the news as depredations are feared upon the ranchmen of Big Horn valley and the big cattle herds of the region. The Indians if not headed off will probably cross the Big Horn valley to the Shoshone reservation where there are 1,500 Shoshones and Arapahoes. These Indians have gone through a Messiah craze and it is doubtful whether they can be stirred up by their visitors. The troops in the region are three companies of the Fifth cavalry at Fort McKinney near Buffalo under Colonel Guy V. Henry and several companies of cavalry at Fort Washakie on the Shoshone reservation. The troops at Fort Russell are still under marching orders. Their baggage and supplies were sent north by rail this morning. The commanding officer, Colonel Offley, does not know whether his regiment will go to Pine Ridge or north to the scene of this last reported raid.

CHICAGO, November 20.—A special from Standing Rock agency, North Dakota, says that the news that troops have been ordered to the reservation has spread rapidly among the savages and the general effect has been bad. Several hundred of the braves have disappeared with what object and in what direction cannot at this hour be learned. There is evident fright in some quarters and it is the general impression that the bucks are running away from what they regard as an impending calamity. It may be however that they are bent upon pillage and murder or have galloped across the country to incite the Northern Cheyennes, the most excitable Indians in the west, to take arms against the whites. The aged warriors and women are frightened over the outlook and profess the warmest friendship for the palefaces. Major McLaughlin the agent has just returned from Sitting Bull's camp on Grand river and reports that the dances are still going on but Sitting Bull's influence has weakened greatly in the last week. Now he has no more than a hundred or so of followers. He received Major McLaughlin cordially but the young bucks scowled at the agent as though he were not welcome. He had a long talk with Sitting Bull and is satisfied that the old chief's faith in the coming of the Messiah is on the decline and unless something unforeseen occurs there is no probability of trouble this winter or possibly next spring. General Ruger's presence here last night had the effect of removing Sitting Bull's followers by nearly one half so that now he has not enough men to carry on a campaign if he wanted to.

FREMONT, Neb., November 20.—Forty five Indians members of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show passed through here yesterday on their way to the Pine Ridge agency. The leaders said they had heard about the new Messiah from their friends before leaving Europe. Indians went crazy in religion just as white people did, they said, but they hoped there would be no trouble. One of the chiefs said they would do all they could among the Indians at Pine Ridge agency to restore quiet and they believed the older heads were opposed to any outbreak. Settlers are much alarmed in the vicinity of Valentine and the Rosebud agencies and are flocking to these points. It is believed that the post traders are encouraging this alarm so as to increase their sales.

A Post Trader's Views.

KANSAS CITY, November 20.—A dispatch from Pine Ridge from James N. Finley formerly from this city now post trader at the Pine Ridge agency was received here to night. This dispatch mentions the arrival of the troops and continues as follows: "The Indians are actually crazed with religious fanaticism and the excitement at the ghost dances is of the most intense character. Add to their excitement an utter recklessness of consequences induced by religious fanaticism and you may gather an idea of the situation. It is the opinion of most among the troops that the whole Indian ghost dance will be broken up shortly. Two or three thousand lances are now in use. [illegible] who have reached here report that several hundred have congregated secretly nine miles from this place. They are all heavily armed and they are expected in the Rosebud [illegible] soon. Many settlers have moved their families to places of safety and all are greatly apprehensive of the outcome.

More Troops Ready

OMAHA, November 20.—An order has been received at Fort Omaha to have the four remaining companies of the second infantry ready to go to the front at a moment's notice. The companies in question will be able to pack up and in the space of two hours everything necessary for a winter campaign was ready to be placed on board the cars. These companies so far as the commanders are concerned comprise some of the oldest Indian fighters in this section of the country.

A Wild Tale.

CHICAGO, November 20.—A special dispatch from Valentine, Neb., says: Two traveling men who came east from Rushville declare that a courier came in late Tuesday night with a horrible tale that the anti Messiah half breeds and

Huntington Denies the Affair of the Pacific Mail

Wall street yesterday was the Mecca of John and [illegible] capitalists [illegible] Henry Villard. There was a [illegible] Northern Pacific [illegible] name of [illegible] assets [illegible] out for in the past few days [illegible] fat on of the stock. It Rockefeller [illegible] of Jay Gould. They have a great amount of surplus in new [illegible] have been seeking a [illegible] Pacific are now the largest [illegible] tory of the company. The company however issued [illegible] with the other [illegible] the purpose of the Rockefeller [illegible] state is to remove it from them. The Rockefellers have no further interest in railroad [illegible] so great that once having cut [illegible] railroad affairs it is in the power dominate them. There is a chance [illegible] for to provide connection to the Northern Pacific [illegible] uninterrupted railroad line from the Atlantic to the Pacific. By its alliance with the Wisconsin Central [illegible] already reaches from Puget sound to Chicago and its route thence [illegible] will be by way of the B. & O.

The Rockefellers Deal

NEW YORK, November 20.—A statement that the Rockefeller interests and their associates generally known as the Standard Oil party had increased their holdings of Northern Pacific preferred by 100,000 shares has caused much discussion in regard to the Villard interest in the property. The capital stock of the Northern Pacific company amounts to $86,141,183 or 861,411 shares. Of this the North American company held 30,151 shares of common stock and 127,433 shares of the preferred stock. President Oakes said: "I could hardly believe the Rockefellers and their associates have lately added largely to their holdings of stocks and bonds of the Northern Pacific. Personally I believe that there was no truth in the report that Villard would retire or be forced out of the company. All the parties identified with both interests say that the 127,000 shares of preferred stock held by the North American company hypothecated to insure loans were sold by the creditors and then bought in by the Rockefellers. As the Rockefellers are said to have been heavily interested in the North American the company cannot be said to have changed hands."

Gould and Union Pacific

NEW YORK, November 20.—President Adams of the Union Pacific and President Hewitt of the Northwestern, have been in this city since Tuesday and it is said some important deal will soon develop. The gould people state that the board of directors of the Union Pacific will be reorganized within ten days and a statement is circulated that President Adams has signified his willingness to hand in his resignation if it is asked for. It is also said that if he finds the large stockholders are opposed to him he will resign.

Pacific Mail Matters

SAN FRANCISCO, November 20.—President Huntington of the Southern Pacific company left here last night for New York. A few minutes before he left Mr. Huntington was seen and called to a press dispatch announcing the new board of officers for the Pacific Mail Steamship company. Mr. Huntington said: "The election has resulted as I expected and wished. In fact the present officers of the company had been decided on before the election preceding the last and were changed after I came to California."

When asked if he thought the company would carry out its policy by putting on a line of steamers between Panama, Japan and China he replied: "I see no reason why they will not do so. This proposition has been much talked of and is sure to come sooner or later. I suppose it may as well commence now as at some future time."

What the Farmers Want

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., November 20.—The Farmers Mutual Benefit association assembled here to day and agreed to resolutions demanding a revision of the patent laws, the abolition of the national banking system, that the circulating medium of the government be confined to gold, silver and copper coin and the United States treasury notes, favor the loaning of money by the national government to organizations in sums not exceeding $2,000 to any one citizen and properly secured at interest not to exceed four per cent per annum, favor the issue and sale at par by the government of United States bonds in denominations of $10, $20, $50 and $100, bearing two per cent interest and redeemable at the option of the government. The resolutions demand the equalization of taxation by law. They also favor the election of president, vice president and United States senators by the popular vote, oppose the civil service laws and the tenure in office of United States judges at a period not to exceed nine years. The election of postmasters and railroad and warehouse commissioners by popular vote is also urged. Pensions to soldiers and sailors are approved and a revision of government official salaries is recommended, as is also a reduction of the taxation on necessaries and conveniences. The resolutions conclude by making provision for the establishment of a national organization to attend the session of legislatures throughout the country in the interests of the farmers organizations and calling upon the representatives of the association to keep aloof from both old parties.

Standing by Parnell

DUBLIN, November [illegible].—United Ireland says: Ireland's character for [illegible] ality will justify the support the people for these resolutions by voters who think patriotism is the essence of sin. Now it says is the time to repay Mr. Parnell for his public services. He rely [illegible] the affection of Protestants and Papists alike. We have our leader and mean to keep him.

The Irish Catholic says Parnell has sinned heavily as much against Ireland as against morality, but the grave political exigency demands that he continue to be the leader of his party.

The Freeman's Journal says [illegible] day hinders the government consistency a surprise [illegible] springing on the people the news of his election for members of the House of Commons.

Parnell's Present Position

LONDON, November 20.—Mr. Parnell has sent to several of his colleagues a communication to the effect that as long as he is supported by the Irish people he will remain at the helm in politics. He says he has never sought politics or reward of any kind and he does not seek assistance now. The Irish people and English politicians thus decide the question of leadership of the nationalist party. At the present critical juncture he would be false to his duty to Ireland if he should desert his post because of private matters which with politics have no concern. When his mission is accomplished and justice has been won for Ireland after her long struggle against overwhelming odds the people may name who they wish to conduct their political affairs.

Knights of Labor

DENVER, November 20.—Nothing was accomplished at to day's session of the Knights of Labor. At the session to night it was agreed after much discussion to hold a national reform industrial conference some time during the ensuing year for the formation of an independent platform upon the principles of the preamble of the Knights of Labor. The Farmers Alliance and all labor organizations in the country are invited to send delegates to the conference.

T. V. Powderly, Ralph Beaumont and A. W. Wright were chosen as delegates to attend the supreme council of the Farmers Alliance at Osceola, Florida.

A. M. Dirves of Washington who during the recent political campaign in Pennsylvania issued certain circulars reflecting upon Grand Master Powderly was suspended from the assemblies for three years in the order of [illegible] and required to come before the assembly for censure.

A Canadian Failure

HAMILTON, Ont., November 20.—A meeting of the creditors of R. M. Wanzer & Co. was held to day. The firm's total assets are $360,563. The two principal creditors are the Bank of British North America and the Canada Permanent Loan society. These are secured by mortgages to the extent of a quarter of a million. It is probable that the company will be allowed to complete the sale of its sewing machine factory to the Royal Sewing Machine company. An offer of $150,000 for the company's electric light and sewing machine plant has been received from a New York syndicate, but the price asked is $190,000.

Wholesale Poisoning

PITTSBURG, November 20.—A special from Beaver Falls, Pa., says: A startling report comes from Clinton, a small place in Western Pennsylvania, to the effect that a number of people have been poisoned by a man and his wife, three children and four others. Particulars have not yet been learned but it is known that at least one man died with the others seriously ill. Coroner Watson has been hastily called to the place and a thorough investigation will be made. No further details can be obtained at the time of telegraph and telephone.

Somewhat Peculiar

[illegible], Me., November 20.—A warm contest for the republican nomination for representative in congress in the Third district in 1892 has been precipitated by one of the candidates sending out letters asking for support. Hon. J. H. Manley is a candidate. Hon. J. A. Manchester Haines of Augusta is a candidate. Hon. F. Wiswell, Hon. Seth L. Milliken, the present incumbent, George V. Burleigh, Hon. J. R. Webster and L. F. Carlton are also candidates.

Bank Thief Caught

UTICA, N. Y., November 20.—Moses L. Marks, the Rochester bank thief, was captured in a house of ill fame in this city to night by Detective Cleveland of the city police force. All the money except $250 was recovered.

If two months of the McKinley bill cut the republican party to half what will two years of it do?

It will be quite a victory for Rome if Dr. McGlynn returns to the Catholic church, and another instance of the Jesuitical idea that early training and habits of thought powerfully affect one's after life.

Judging from the success of the Kansas Farmers' Alliance and the resolutions passed yesterday by the Illinois Farmers' Mutual Benefit association, the farmers have the earth and desire the government to help them build the fence.

Eighty million wooden ties are used annually on the railroads of this country. This represents an enormous cutting of trees and too often the denudation of hillsides and the drying up of springs and small streams. It is pleasant, therefore, to note that the use of metallic ties is increasing. Thirty thousand miles of road in this country are now so equipped, and their use is both economical and satisfactory.

Recent events in Wall street give additional proof of the truth that the disasters of speculation usually fall upon the small operators while the big ones not only come through the storm all right but gain by the operations. The financial troubles have been the result of speculation. There was no crop failure nor impending war to justify the sudden decline in American railway stocks. So while the smaller brokers were using every means to protect their credits and selling stocks at a low figure in an effort, often unsuccessful, to meet their engagements, such capitalists as Gould and Rockefeller have been buying largely and will undoubtedly add some useless figures to the sum total of possessions which are already larger than they can enjoy.

The feeling in favor of new county buildings is almost unanimous, and they should be built as soon as possible. Still the commissioners are justified in exercising a reasonable amount of deliberation in so important a matter. The selection of a site which will be the best one, all things considered, is not an easy task. The question as to whether it is wise or possible to locate the new court house in the south park is still an open one. Nothing can be done until the location is determined and as soon as that is settled the commissioners will proceed to erect a suitable building in accordance with the wishes of the community. The county is in circumstances to warrant the erection of a handsome court house, one that will be a credit to the county and an ornament to the city.

Future railway development in this state will consist in improvements and more constant operation of existing lines rather than the construction of new ones. The eastern or plains part of the state already has a railway system greatly in advance of the local needs of that section. For the western two thirds, railways must follow the water courses and with few exceptions these have already been secured. The extreme northwestern and southwestern counties have as yet no communication with the outside world, but the Rio Grande Southern and the new road which a Mormon company has already begun to grade eastward from Salt Lake, will soon remedy that. A line will undoubtedly be built across the range west from Denver, if one can be located which will be free from too much snow and with reasonable grades. Beyond this the addition to the railway system of the state will for the most part consist principally of short lines, branches or feeders built by the great companies now operating here. During the past year Colorado did not show as many miles of new road as did other states with no pretensions to early less rapid. A fairer object for comparison would be the increase in business. Statistics of this are not at hand. However, an instance may be found in the scarcity of cars which is bothering shippers throughout the state and especially in Aspen. The strike of the Denver switchmen undoubtedly had something to do with this, but it cannot be held responsible alone for a trouble which extends through all the west as far as Oregon. And a state which can furnish freight faster than the railway companies can build cars, is doing well, extremely well.

There is some danger that Professor Koch's remedy for tuberculosis will share the fate of the Brown Sequard elixir and be swamped by exaggeration and extravagant claims. Professor Koch himself with the moderation of a true scientist claims much less than do many of his enthusiastic followers. From what we know of his experiments we may feel assured that the new remedy is of undoubted value in certain tubercular affections of the skin and joints and in incipient cases of pulmonary consumption. But even Koch himself doubts its efficacy in more advanced cases and as has been well remarked no remedy could realize a part of what has been claimed for it. The new substance when injected into the blood causes the death of the diseased tissue and incidentally of the rod like bacilli to which the disease is now generally ascribed. The chief defect in the remedy is that it does not prevent the subsequent spread of the disease to adjacent parts, neither does it, as in the case of common vaccination, prevent subsequent infection. The exact composition of the "lymph" remains unknown to the public. It is undoubtedly composed partly of metallic salts and partly of albumen [illegible] claim to be considered as an important addition to medical science. It is not likely to prove to be what some have claimed, a specific for consumption. The world has a great longing for specifics. For years it chased the will-o'-the-wisp of the elixir of life and since then it has sought in every newly discovered substance an infallible cure for some of the many ailments of man. But no medicine for "some man's meat is another's poison." Varying constitutions baffle all life and personal idiosyncrasies often even reverse the effects of remedies. Neither facts nor probabilities lay the ghost that this discovery will return the desirability of a Colorado residence for those who have weak lungs.

An Amusing Order.

To be found among much entertaining matter in the Magazine of American History is an amusing order issued by General Scott, preserved in the order book of General Henry Dodge, and now in the Iowa State library. Dodge was in command at Rock Island when the cholera broke out there and after various injunctions in the interest to sobriety and cleanliness he adds this curious paragraph: "In addition to the foregoing the surgeon present recommends the use of flannel shirts, calico drawers and woolen stockings, but the commanding general who has seen much of cholera knows that it is intemperance which in the present state of the atmosphere generates and spreads the contagion and that when once spread good and temperate men are likely to take the infection. He therefore peremptorily commands that every officer or ranger who shall be found drunk or scandalously intoxicated after the publication of this order be tried as soon as his strength will admit and a grave at a suitable distance be prepared enough for his own, though in as well grave cannot fail soon to be wanted for the drunken wretch, honored companion. This order is given as well to serve for the punishment of drunkenness as to spare good and temperate men the odor of the grave of a worthless drunkard."

The Fencing class continues to be well attended during the past week.

Mr. Fenwick Lloyd left for Denver on the 6th inst. The company will miss his cheerful face.

The Sergeant is busying with the company and all are working hard, preparing for the competitive drill December 1. Captain Hayes is giving special attention to the manual of arms. The caps have arrived and the uniforms were to be shipped to-day. The company numbers now forty men and is in a prosperous condition.

The various committees on Sortrip functions are hard at work raising funds for the gymnasium. Quite a sum has been secured from among the students and work is to be begun as soon as possible. The plans are to be drawn by Fred R. Hastings and will be for a building of stone, gothic architecture, the ultimate cost of which will be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

OPINIONS.

"It is nearly half a century since the first volume of this sterling publication came from the press, and to-day it stands the most perfect publication of its kind in the world. There is but one LIVING AGE, though many have essayed imitations. While their intent has no doubt been worthy, they have lacked that rare discriminating judgment, that fineness of [illegible] men, and that keen appreciation of what constitutes true excellence, which make LITTELL'S LIVING AGE the incomparable publication that it is."—Christian at Work, New York.

"It is indispensable to intelligent people in this busy day."—New York Evangelist.

"Certain it is that no other magazine can take its place in enabling the busy reader to keep up with current literature."—Episcopal Recorder, Philadelphia.

"It is incomparably the finest literary production of modern times. It equals, within its scope the greatest quarterlies, and gives us of the great authors and ripest scholars in Europe."—[illegible] Boston.

"Blography, fiction, science, criticism, history, poetry, travels, whatever men are interested in, is here."—Episcopal Church Times, Boston.

"The readers may very safely think this important in the periodical division."—Boston Journal.

"It may be truthfully and cordially said that it never offers a dry or valueless page."—New York Tribune.

"To read it is itself an education in the degree of modern thought and literature."—Hartford Courant, Hartford, Conn.

"Coming weekly, it has a great advantage over the monthly magazines and reviews."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"For the amount of reading matter contained, the subscription is extremely low."—Chicago Advocate, Methodist.

"It contains nearly all the good literature of the time."—The Churchman, New York.

"It would be cheap at almost any price."—California Christian Advocate, San Francisco.

"For the man who tries to be truly conversant with the very best literature of this and other countries, it is indispensable."—Central Baptist, St. Louis.

"In it the reader finds all that is worth knowing in the shape of current literature."—Philadelphia Presbyterian, Philadelphia.
